Teams Train For All-Star Grid Battle

Negaunee-The sun came out this morning to assure the north and south all-star squads of the opportunity to get into high gear in preparation for Saturday night's all-star game.

Coaches Allan Ronberg, south, and Joe DeCook, north, made the most of a rainy afternoon yesterday by getting in light work indoors and explaining some of the formations and plays to be worked off them that will be part of the Saturday offense.

Each was highly pleased with the appearance of his squad. Ellsworth Bengry, backfield man, Stambaugh, was added to the squad bringing each up to full strength of 25 players.

Boys are being fed at the Methodist church by a group of women from the church, and are housed at the Breitung hotel. They are enthusiastic about their reception and the program for the week. Each boy was determined to do his best to prove the worthwhile character of the attraction and to bring victory to his team in the first presentation of its kind the Peninsula has seen.

Room For 5,000

There will be room for 5,000 persons, everyone with a clear view of the game, when general admissions are sold for the U.P. all-star football attraction Saturday, Oscar E. Wassberg, director, said this morning. In the event of rain Saturday, the game will be played Sunday night, August 18.
