Coaches Give Team Reports

Faust Ferzacca, Green Bay West athletic director, who will direct the south squad against the North in the Upper Peninsula all-star football game in Negaunee Saturday, is giving fans a taste of how a shrewd coach operates. He started our phone conversation with a big moan..."We don't have anything, we are in bad shape," he said. In short, Frosty gives you the impression he's up against a hopeless task.

To which we say, "Watch out for the South." True, the South will be on the short end of the odds, because of last year's lopsided win by the North, and because most of the North boys reported, while the South had had a few substitutions. But, don't count any team out of the game as long as Ferzacca is handling the end of it. When the South takes the field Saturday you can wager it will be a snappy outfit.

Arthur Krueger, North coach, is a bit more on the optimistic side. "They look in fair condition, but we can tell better after our scrimmages," he said. Krueger and his assistant, Francis Mierzwa, both former Marquette University football stars in the early '30s, will be heard on the sports review over WDMG, The Mining Journal station, at 6:30 tonight.
